

Information in English

Voluntaris – Journal of Volunteer Services is a German academic journal which aims to combine scientific and applied perspectives on volunteer services. Academics and practitioners are now invited to submit papers.

Although the journal's primary language is German, we want to foster the international academic exchange on volunteer services, volunteerism, citizenship service and related topics. We are working on an English version of our website. So far we can provide the Call for Papers for the first issue and the Author's Guidelines in English:

Sonja Richter (Leuphana University of Lüneburg, Institute for Environmental and Sustainability Communication)
